SPECIAL COMMITTEE REPORT

Progress Report of the Joint Survey Committee on Tax Exemptions to the Wisconsin Legislature

The joint survey committee on tax exemptions was created by Ch. 153, Laws 1963, as a permanent committee. Section 13.44 (2) Wis. Stats. specifies that the committee shall be composed of:

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE [Oct. 6, 1965]

"(a) One senator, a member of the joint committee on finance, appointed by the senate chairman of the committee;

"(b) The chairman of the assembly standing committee on taxation;

"(c) One senator and one assemblyman selected as are standing committee members of the respective houses;

"(d) A representative of the office of the attorney general selected by the attorney general;

"(e) The commissioner of taxation or his designated representative; and

"(f) A public member, selected by the governor by January 15 of each odd-numbered year, who is familiar with the tax problems of subordinate levels of government throughout the state."

Under § 13.44 (8) the committee is directed "to provide the legislature with a considered opinion of the legality of the proposal, of the fiscal effect upon the state and its subdivisions and of the desirability as a matter of public policy of each legislative proposal which would modify existing laws or create new laws relating to the exemption of property or persons from any state or local taxes or special assessments."

Section 13.44 (9) provides that "Upon the introduction in either house of the legislature of any proposal which affects any existing statute or creates any new statute relating to the exemption of any property or persons from any state or local taxes or special assessments, such proposal shall at once be referred to the joint survey committee on tax exemptions . . . and such proposal shall not be considered further by either house until the joint survey committee on tax exemptions has submitted a report, in writing, setting forth an opinion of the legality . . . , the fiscal effect . . . and . . . public policy and such report has been printed as an appendix to the bill. . . ."

To date the committee has held 12 meetings all in Madison as follows:

There have been 31 Senate bills and 2 Senate Joint resolutions and 44 Assembly bills, or a total of 77 proposals, referred to the committee for consideration. Reports have been submitted on all but 7 proposals which are still in committee. Of the 70 measures which have been considered and reported out, 2 have been passed; 53 are still pending, and 15 were not adopted. The 2 which were passed are Senate Bill 83 which became Ch. 278, and Assembly Bill 35 which became Ch. 266. Of the 53 still pending, 32 have been referred to the joint committee on finance (One bill has been rereferred to the committee for further analysis.)

The committee took its assignment seriously and a thorough analysis was made of each proposal submitted to the committee with particular attention being given to (1) the total fiscal effect on the state and its subdivisions, (2) whether the proposal would open the door to new and additional exemptions, (3) the equity and uniformity with which the exemption would apply, and (4) whether the proposal would violate constitutional provisions, particularly the requirement of uniformity in taxation.

Authors of the proposals and other interested persons were notified when a particular measure was to be considered, and in a number of cases appeared before the committee.

The committee noted that in view of the fact that the legislature at each session is confronted with numerous tax exemption proposals, a careful analysis of these measures is absolutely necessary. Although plausible arguments can be made in favor of many proposed exemptions, the indiscriminate extension of tax exemptions erodes the state and local tax basis and thus reduces the sources of government revenue. Almost invariably the granting of an exemption to one group shifts the burden of taxation to another group of taxpayers.

Respectfully submitted,

ALEX J. MEUNIER,

October 4, 1965.

Chairman.
